

When I Confess

Confess: admit or acknowledge something reluctantly, typically because one feels slightly ashamed or embarrassed. We picture a suspect in a crime investigation, in a small room, sitting in an uncomfortable chair at a plain table. Investigators are asking question after question. Finally, he or she can take it no more. They confess. For the officers, they've done their job successfully. For the victim and/or their family, they have closure. However, for the criminal, he one that is guilty, confession is only the beginning. Their confession opened the door to a vastly different life.

What about us as Christians? In Luke 9:18-20 we read, "18 Now it happened that as he was praying alone, the disciples were with him. And he asked them, "Who do the crowds say that I am?"19 And they answered, "John the Baptist. But others say, Elijah, and others, that one of the prophets of old has risen."20 Then he said to them, "But who do you say that I am?" And Peter answered, "The Christ of God."

Follow along this morning as we study God's Word together,
